

HOME STRETCH

SYMPOSIUM | PARK HYATT
MELBOURNE | 15 & 16
JUNE 2023

Every state and territory in Australia is now on board with #makeit21. While this is fantastic news for young people in out-of-home care, there is still a lot of work to be done.

Join us at the third Home Stretch Symposium in Melbourne on 15 & 16 June to hear from Australian and international experts in out-of-home care research and policy present the latest research and evidence-based best practice in Extended Care policy.

What to expect:

- Update on extended care to 21 policy implementation across Australia
- Experiences and challenges of implementation and service delivery of extended care to 21 years
- Best practice policies in extended care to 21
- Latest national and international evaluations on extended care to 21

Who should attend:

- State & territory government representatives
- Federal government representatives
- Out-of-home care service providers
- Policy officers and evaluators
- Academics with an interest in out-of-home care
- Peak Bodies, independent agencies and consumer groups

With special keynote by Professor Mark Courtney on the longest and largest extended care evaluation and Julian Morrow, Australian comedian, co-founder of The Chaser and creator of The Checkout, who is well-known for putting his satirical spin on news and current events, as the MC for the event.

More speakers will be announced on the website.

Over two days, this event will provide space and opportunity for anyone with an interest in Extended Care to learn, discuss and network.
